COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The town should be proud of the beautiful new building that opened for business on Main Street this week. The town will benefit in many ways from the new store. Besides the increased taxes, there will be more employment and a building that is attractive to look at. The new store is a continuation of expansion that has been taking place during the past year and is still going on. Two new businesses are operating on Route 2 between Bethel and West Bethel. Another will open in a short while in the same area. Two of the mills in town are now in the process of extensive expansion. It appears that business is pretty good and the businessmen are confident that this is a good place to keep their business. The end result will be more jobs, more money and a better community to live in.

I will list the streets that will be tarred and if anyone sees a tar truck at the end of the street he can attempt to keep his dogs or children out of the wet tar. The streets are Spring Street, Broad Street, Summer Street, Church Street, Philbrook Street, Vernon Street, Main Street and Elm Street.

We're in another extremely dry period with the fire danger at a very high level. The alarm that was turned in Tuesday of this week was in Newry. Every one should use the greatest caution with any outside fires.

Michael Houlihan

Gregor, Currier, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Currier, underwent surgery, Tuesday morning, at the Children's Hospital, 300 Longwood Ave., Boston, Mass. John Jr. is with Mr. and Mrs. Clem St. Hilaire in Rumford while his mother is away.

Misses Bonnie and Lorraine Eames, and Miss Beth Ann Brown left yesterday for Farrington's Lodge, Center Lovell, where they will be employed for the summer. Miss Jane Laxton will leave on Saturday for her summer's work at Farrington's.

Summer passenger train service will operate on Saturdays only from July 4 to August 29. On standard time it will leave Montreal at 7:15 a. m.; Bethel at 12:45 p. m.; arrive at Portland at 2:30 p. m.; leave Portland at 3:45 p. m.; arrive Bethel at 5:30 p. m.; arrive Montreal 11:00 p. m.

WOODLAND BURNS IN SUNDAY RIVER AREA

Woodland owned by Burton Newton of West Bethel on Merrill Hill at Sunday River was discovered to be on fire at about 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

A crew from Newry, assisted by the Bethel fire department and men and equipment from the State Forestry Department fought the blaze. At one time the fire was thought to be under control, but it broke out again and burned over the mountain toward Letter S near Riley Plantation.

Dry conditions and winds hindered firefighters in controlling the blaze which was brought under control Tuesday night. The fire area was still being patrolled Wednesday.

Two bulldozers, one owned by Burton Newton and one by the State Forest Service were brought into the area Tuesday night and worked through the night. Water was hauled to the fire in tank trucks, and in plastic containers owned by the Forest Service. A woods road leading into the area made it possible to get trucks and equipment to the fire. The woods in the area are extremely dry, and it is expected that the fire area will be patrolled for several years in the same location. The store was established in that location some time after 1876.

Founded by Chauncey Bryant in 1876, successive proprietors of the business have been William Bryant, Myron Bryant, and Richard Bryant. The store became affiliated with the Independent Grocer's Alliance in 1929.

The Week in Oxford County

The appointment of Claude Mass, East Sumner, as National Aide-de-Camp, V. F. W., was recently announced by Joseph J. Lombardo, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

David L. Phillips of Rumford, and David A. Willard of Bethel, who received their M. D. degrees from Tufts University School of Medicine, have been appointed to internships at Maine Medical Center, Portland.

The annual County 4-H field day will be held Saturday, June 27, at Littlefield's Beach. All Oxford County 4-H members, leaders and families are invited to attend.

Field day for the South Paris firemen is Saturday. The events take place on Park Street near the bridge. Fire companies from several towns are expected.

State Forestry Commissioner Austin H. Wilkins warns of the bone-dry conditions of woodlands. He said streams are drying and water levels sinking. Strong winds are worsening the conditions.

Local 940 of the United Papermakers and Paperworkers AFL-CIO, Oxford Paper employees, Rumford, cast a no strike vote Tuesday. Workers will continue under the old contract until July 16, the date of the three-day union representation meeting.

The Oxford County 4-H Club held a field day Saturday at the Conant Farm at Canton Point.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson and three children have returned from four years in the Amazon Basin of Bolivia. They are residing in Oxford. The Jacksons' years in the Amazon were spent working with a tribe of 1,000 illiterate Indians studying their habits and customs and establishing a written alphabet. Mr. Jackson plans to enter U. S. L. A. working towards his master's degree.

On June 14 Mrs. Elizabeth Richards had nearly all her family together for the first time in 24 years. Attending were her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Richards and four daughters, Sandra, Chrystal, Francine and Susan, Seattle, Wash.; her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doggett and son, Frank, Brunswick; her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richards, two sons, Mark and Gary, and daughter, Kim, Lewiston; her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Richards and three sons, Bruce, Donald and Jeffrey, Peacedale, R. I.; her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hutchins, two sons, Raymond and David, and daughter, Bonnie, Andover; her grandson, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hutchins and two children, Kathy and Terry, Andover.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stinson and their six children, Donna, Perry, Glenn, Larry, Wayne, and Alan, left June 16 for Richmond, Va., to visit with relatives.

Mrs. Robert B. Swain and son, Ross, spent several days this week in New York City.

The East Andover Community Club met with Mrs. Orville Messner on June 16, with Mrs. William Simmons Jr. as co-hostess with 17 in attendance. The President, Mrs. William Crook, Sr., led the meetings. Reports were read and accepted. It was noted that the annual $5 senior gift this year was awarded to Harlan Libby. A discussion of the East Andover Sunday School was held. Election of a new superintendent and her assistant will take place at the July meeting. The heat- ing was discussed. It was suggested that a box stove would give more heat than the present stove. If anyone knows of such a stove would they contact the secretary. Definite plans for the reopening of Sunday School in the fall will be made at the next meeting. The mystery package was won by the president. The July 14 meeting will be in the form of a cook-out at the home of Mrs. Linwood Tucker with Mrs. Sidney Jones as co-hostess. Meeting adjourned and a personal letter was given to Mrs. David Stillman. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Miss Virginia Bell has summer employment at Poland Spring.

CHALLENGE '64

Commencement Address by Major General James D. Alger, Gould Academy, Bethel, Maine,
June 7, 1964

Mr. Davidson, members of the Board of Trustees, Mr. Vachon, faculty, the class of 1964, parents, friends:

What a joy it is to be back at Gould again, on this lovely campus, in this pleasant town, surrounded by its rolling hills intercepted as they are by the river and its intervals. Since leaving this beautiful spot so many years ago, service in our Army has taken me to far away places. On my travels, on tours of duty, I have been privileged to see some of the beautiful places on this earth of ours—the highlands of Scotland, the majestic Alps with their picturesque Austrian and German towns nestled at their base. Granada and Andalusia in Spain, Istanbul, Hong Kong, Lake Taal in the Philippines, Rio de Janeiro, and in our own country: the towering Rockies, the great parks, the setting of West Point, the lovely villages of the rest of New England and, of course, our rock bound coast of Maine. But in all these travels when I can contemplate in relative calm I find myself drifting back in my mind's eye to this lovely place. And I follow my thoughts as often as I can to return to Gould, to Bethel. To young people who are about to leave this setting, I urge you to stand once more on the campus—look out over the athletic field, over the intervals and on to the hills. I would hope that the memory of this view will remain with you and perhaps lead you too back through the years ahead.

For Mrs. Alger and me there is, of course, the added pleasure of being among friends on our return—seeing classmates, schoolmates and former instructors of mine. Yes, Coach Anderson took a pretty awkward young fellow in hand when he arrived on campus and by dint of hard work and concentration, he turned out a reasonable athlete—pretty faded at the moment—and I'm always embarrassed at finding him looking much the same as he did when he used to blow the whistle on me in the gym or "advise" me from the bench over on the athletic field. To Coach Anderson, to Dr. Hanson, to Mr.
Powers, to Miss Wright, Miss Haley and so many others who worked with me as an undergraduate here at Gould, who encouraged me, and who shaped my thinking and set my course —I acknowledge an eternal debt.

And, as both an alumnus and a member of the Board of Trustees, I would commend Mr.
Vachon and his staff and faculty for the outstanding work they have done and are doing in shaping the lives and guiding the young men and women of Gould today. One has only to read of the accomplishments of graduates to be impressed by good measure. Doctors, Lawyers—all the professions diplomas in the service of our country all over the world—It's an impressive record and all of us associated with Gould are indeed proud of it. And I know all of you join me in congratulating Miss Margaret Tib-batts on her distinguished diplomatic career, her election by the president as one of the few outstanding young women of the nation and her soon to be announced ambassadorial post.

And we're proud of this class which has done so well. I personally am honored, flattered.

yet humble at having been asked to talk to you for a few moments and thus to share with you your graduation—your commencement.

This is a beginning. This is a commencement of a new phase in your lives—a more mature phase. And as you enter it you take on increased responsibilities to yourselves, to your families, your communities and your country—our country. And in assuming these responsibilities, in facing up to these new tasks, you will find yourself pressed at times—you will be challenged to prove yourself.
How you react, how you respond, will be the measure of you as a young American.

You know, there was a time when the great burdens of civilization fell upon the shoulders of those gray and stooped with age—who bore the full responsibility for the lives of their people. Not today. Today we live in a young world, and there is a distinct advantage in being young and being committed to responsibility.

America has always expected much from her youth. At 23, Alexander Hamilton commanded the artillery forces of the Continental Army. When he was but 33, Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence, one of the most enduring testimonials to freedom ever committed to paper. At 43, John F. Kennedy was the youngest man ever to be elected President of the United States.

Science, the focal point of our youthful world—and to a great extent the reason for its youthfulness—is itself young. Ninety percent of all mankind's technological progress has come within the last 100 years—two percent of recorded time. It is also estimated, by those presumed to know, that nearly ninety percent of all the scientists in history are alive today.

To me no one has painted a more vivid picture of this future —your future—than did General MacArthur in speaking to the Corps of Cadets on the occasion of his receipt of the Thayer Award for service to our nation. This was his famous "Duty, Honor, Country" speech which it was my great privilege to hear in Washington Hall at West Point on the 12th day of May 1962. The General in describing the world which the Cadets—and you—are entering painted this picture:

"You now face a new world —a world of change. The thrust into outer space of the satellite, spheres and missiles marked the beginning of another epoch in the long story of mankind—the chapter of the space age. In the five or more billions of years the scientists tell us it has taken to form the earth, in the three or more billion years of development of the human race, there has never been a greater, a more abrupt or staggering evolution. We deal now not with things of this world alone, but with the illimitable distances and as yet unfathomed mysteries of the universe. We are reaching out for a new and boundless frontier.

"We speak in strange terms of harnessing the cosmic energy, of making winds and tides work for us, of creating unheard of synthetic materials to supplement or replace our old standard basics; of purifying sea water for our drink; of mining ocean floors for new fields of wealth and food; of disease preventatives to expand life into the hundreds of years; of controlling the weather for a more equitable distribution of heat and cold, of rain and shine; of space ships to the moon; of such dreams and fantasies as to make life the most exciting of all times."

What a vivid description by one of the great soldiers, by one of the great patriots, of our nation, General Douglas MacArthur.

So then, this young world is standing on the threshold of the future. Never in the long history of man has so much been possible nor so much been at stake. And you, who this day renewance writing your chapter in this history, may well regard the days that lie ahead with mixed emotions of apprehension and confidence. This paradox of emotions reflects the complexity of this strange era.

The glory or the disaster of your chapter will depend entirely on your personal preparations to accept the challenge. How well you continue to educate yourself about your era; how well you investigate the requirements of the future; how well you understand yourselves and the world around you will determine both the epilogue to your chapter and the prologue for the generations yet to come.

These are perilous days, but days of magnificent opportunity. With each new threat to which we are subjected, is an attendant opportunity to prove the value of those truths and principles that are the foundation of freedom. And to youth has been given the greatest opportunity of all. The opportunity of not only being present and witnessing the unfolding of one of the most exciting chapters in history, but also of participating, indeed, of playing a vital role in this challenging era.

We find ourselves then living on an old, old planet with a young and exuberant population. And it is against this background of youth that each of you, the youth of America and the hope of this nation's future, finds yourself challenged. The challenge is that of responsibility, and this responsibility is to your heritage.

This nation was founded on the principle of freedom for the individual. Freedom to think, to speak, to act and to pray so long as what was said or done did not jeopardize the rights of others to exercise the same freedom.

Throughout our history thousands of Americans have given their lives for this principle.
Today, that principle is as basic to our society as it ever was, but its survival is threatened by forces unparalleled in the story of the world.

Not only has the principle itself been challenged, but there are those who have threatened our very existence—who have promised to "bury" us. The traditional values of western civilization, and the unique virtues of our American way of life are under constant and bitter attack. We are menaced by a new age of glaciers, but this time the ice pushing down upon us is the ice of godless materialism and totalitarianism.

Every ounce of patriotism, every ounce of moral and physical strength, every ounce of dedication to those ideals we hold dear are necessary to preserve what we have, and to meet our responsibility to history.

The forces that would destroy us seek every hour, of every day to suppress freedom all over the world. The problems of our allies and friends in Vietnam, in all of Southeast Asia, in Latin America, in Africa and in Europe are our problems, because each time a small bit of democracy is eroded, the position of our own democracy becomes that much more precarious.

I have spoken of our responsibility to our heritage. This means more than insuring the continuation of our own way of life here in our United States.
It means our duty to mankind to be the protectors of freedom and democracy wherever and whenever men wish to be free.
It means utilizing our wealth, our resources, our technology and our experience to defeat oppression, hunger, disease, poverty, ignorance and fear where-ever these forces would deny man the fundamental right to human dignity. And our greatest resource, our greatest wealth is you, the youth of this nation. You have the energy, endurance and motivation to face the perils that lie ahead.
From my generation, and the generations that have gone before, you have vast storehouse of experience available to you, and upon which your own may be built.

I would point out to you that your broad, general responsibility to our heritage carries with it myriad lesser, individual obligations. Responsibilities to your family, your church, your school and your community—these constantly need your attention. These are always with us, and they do not disappear simply because we attain the ripe old age of 17, 18, or 19—or when we receive a long sought Academy diploma. In fact, these responsibilities and obligations to those around us increase as we grow older, and it is important that we accept this as a fact of life. With time, you will become progressively more involved with a complex of requirements and duties. But these are not limitations on freedom. They are opportunities to become a constructive, dynamic force for good in the life of our nation and its people.

When these personal responsibilities are met aggressively, you are well on your way to effectively meeting your ultimate responsibility. And how often have I seen our young men meet this challenge. In a Tunisian desert, in Italy, in Germany, in Korea in war—in Berlin, along the Iron Curtain, and on the 38th parallel in Korea in the cold war. It is there on some lonely hilltop where our young men come face to face with the evil forces challenging us in our world—it is where he sees them in all their ugliness—the barbed wire, the plowed strip, the manned sentry tower brilliant with machine guns. It is there that he accepts responsibility, meets the challenge—it is there that he becomes a man, for in his hands—his finger on the trigger of his rifle, his machine gun or his tank gun—in his hands could rest the fate of our nation—of all nations—of all mankind. General MacArthur has, from the vast resources of his experience, eloquently described and eulogized this young American in his famous talk from which I have already quoted:

"My estimate of him was formed on the battlefield many, many years ago, and has never changed. I regarded him then as I regard him now—as one of the world's noblest figures, not only as one of the finest military characters but also as one of the most stainless.

"His name and fame are the brightest of every American citizen. In his youth and strength, his love and loyalty, he gave all that mortality can give.
He needs no eulogy from me or from any other man. He has written his own history and written it in red on his enemy's breast. But when I think of his patience under adversity, of his courage under fire, and of his modesty in victory, I am filled with an emotion of admiration I cannot put into words, he belongs to history as furnishing one of the greatest examples of successful patriotism; he belongs to posterity as the instructor of future generations in the principles of liberty and freedom; he belongs to the present, to us, by his virtues and by his achievements.

"In twenty campaigns, on a hundred battlefields, around a thousand campfires, I have witnessed that enduring fortitude, that patriotic self-abnegation, and that invincible determination which have carved his statue in the hearts of his people."

To continue my suggestions to you on meeting the Challenge of '64, I ask you pause for a moment and reassess your personal philosophy on, your personal reactions to, patriotism. Being patriotic doesn't make one a square. Former President Eisenhower has recently said: "Too many Americans have become so sophisticated that we are inclined to think of any honest emotion, any public display of patriotism, as being corny."

Every ounce of patriotism, every ounce of spiritual and physical strength, every ounce of dedication to those ideals we hold dear are necessary to preserve what we have, and to meet our responsibilities.

For us as a nation there is yet another danger. One that neither carries a gun nor is cloaked in fanatical ideology, but one that can acutely eat away at our society and our heritage until America at last crumbles into the dust of ancient history. It is complacency.

Recently, I read of a country described as a pleasant place for business enterprise, a place where young men were taught to get on. Where extravagance kept pace with shrewd finances.
Its citizens were self satisfied, placid, self-confident, money getting, pleasure loving people, honoring success and hugging their financial security. This description sounded familiar, it was quite disturbing. That nation was Carthage, just before its fall in the year 698 A. D.

Flying back from Panama the other day I picked up a Miami paper during our stopover there and I read the results of a recent Gallop Poll. The question put was this: "Have you given any attention to developments in South Vietnam?" The answer: 37% said yes. Only four out of ten questioned apparently had any interest in what is happening in Southeast Asia in the hottest cold war we have going today. Where we have some sixteen thousand members of our armed forces helping that struggling nation survive. Where we have committed hundreds of millions and the prospect is that millions more will be necessary before the fight will be won. Only four out of ten were interested—complacency? Is there a better description!

History is filled with accounts of great and wealthy civilizations which lost their perspectives and compromised their principles. As they sank into the mire of complacency, they lost all ability to cope with the most minimal hardships. In turn, they were overwhelmed by nations less wealthy, less secure, but willing to sacrifice in order to gain their goals.

But what can be done? How does your generation go about meeting its commitment to history? To mankind? To its faith?
To our country? How can complacency be overcome?

There is no single answer. As a start, however, I would suggest that you learn as much as possible about this great nation of vast complexity. Although travel and modern communications are rapidly breaking down old provincial barriers, a firm knowledge of histories and socio-economic developments of the various parts of the United States will equip you better to undertake the increased complexities of tomorrow. In the same light, the rapidly shrinking world is making it imperative that we know and understand the histories, cultures, and traditions of other peoples in other lands. And languages. Learning languages is so important. Most foreigners are amazed that so few of us speak another language. They would be even more amazed, I think, if they knew how few handle English correctly.

But take it on yourselves to meet young people from other lands, and to learn about their countries and their problems.

You will find them eager also to learn about you and our country. From mutual knowledge comes mutual understanding, and, if young people can talk it out, it may be that they will not be forced to shoot it out.
That Gould graduates are doing this could not be more amply illustrated than by the detail given me by our Alumni Secretary when he pointed out that Gould men and women can be found in Japan, Pakistan, Germany, Hawaii, Canada, England, French West Africa, India, Saudi Arabia, Poland—and soon Panama!

Now what about you, what about the class of '64? Can you meet the challenge of life in this dynamic decade?

There are those who say that
today are unequal to their tasks.
They say they lack discipline.
They detect a decadence in "The Twist" which, somehow, didn't exist in "The Charleston", an intellectual decline in the comic magazine which didn't mark the dime novel. Here is an expression of that thought:

"I see no hope for the future of our people if they are to be dependent upon the frivolous youth of today, for certainly all youth are reckless beyond words and opinionated much beyond their years. When I was a boy, we were taught to be discreet and respectful of our elders, but the present youth are exceeding wise and impatient of restraint."

That was the view of a Greek poet 900 years before the birth of Christ. He was as wrong then as are the gloomiest of today, for, in my mind no young people have ever stepped forth into life better trained, better educated, better motivated, or more alert to tomorrow than you. As someone ruefully observed recently, "The only thing wrong with young people today is that I am not one of them."

And now I join your parents, the trustees, the faculty, your schoolmates and friends in wishing you Godspeed and may God bless you.

LEGION AUXILIARY

The American Legion Auxiliary held its last meeting of the season on June 23. Helen Smith was installed as unit president for the coming year. Thirteen members were present. Miss Martha Stowell gave an interesting talk on her experience at Girls State. It was voted to send a donation to Togus, and to other worthy causes.

Stephanie Thurston gave a talk on the State Convention at Portland.

Little League Day, July 11, was discussed. The Auxiliary is again sponsoring its usual benefit "game" and are hoping that parents and friends of the young baseball players will contribute donations for the prizes. Boxes will be left at stores or you can contact Edith Smith, chairman.

The Bazaar which is Aug. 1 was also discussed. The Auxiliary is having their usual fancy work table, and volunteers should be at the sewing bee on the evening of July 16 at the Legion Rooms. All Auxiliary members please remember to have your own donation ready. The following workers are assigned: 9-11 o'clock, Stephanie Thurston and Helen Smith; 11-1, Margaret Baker, Alberta Angeline; 1-3, Helen Smith, Edith Smith; 3 to 5, Adeline Dexter, Frances Bennett.

The President assigned the following committees: Rehabilitation, Mildred McLean; Membership, Sarah Grover; Treasurer, Margaret Baker; Civil Defense, Margaret Baker, Frances Bennett; Americanism, Edith Smith; Child Welfare, Grace Kitteridge, Esther Dunn; Sickness, Virginia Hutchins; Publicity, Alberta Angeline; Pan Americanism, Lola Forbes; Poppy, Stephanie Thurston; Community Service, Dorothy Bean; Legislature, Rose Taylor; Music, Olive Heath; Birthdays, Pearl McMillan; Executive Committee, Pearl McMillan, Rose Taylor, Frances Bennett. After the meeting refreshments were served.

PHILIP A. BECKLER

Philip Beckler passed away Friday afternoon, June 13 in the Glens Falls, N. Y., Hospital. He was born in Bethel April 7, 1904. Mr. Beckler was a graduate of Gould Academy in 1921 and the University of Maine. He had resided in Glens Falls for the past six years, where he had been employed by the New York State Health Department as head of the District Sanitation Department. He had been employed by the State Health Department for 25 years. A Congregationalist, Mr. Beckler was a member of Oneonta Lodge, 466, F. and A. M.

Surviving are his wife, Edwina B.; two daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Huston of Millwood, and Miss Susan Beckler of Glens Falls, who is presently attending the University of New Hampshire, a son, Edward B. Beckler, Lansing, Mich.; two sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Gullow of Quincy, Mass., and Mrs. Asher Rumsell, Bethel; four grandchildren, a niece and two nephews.
